Reviews and previews

Wolf bill to get hearing

The merits of a bill allowing community colleges to change the way college trustees are elected will be heard at a hearing in Springfield at 4 p.m. today. The bill, sponsored by Rep. Sam Woff, D-Granite City, will be heard in the House Committee on Higher Education. Two Granite City residents, are expected to testify in support of the measure, which would allow district residents to vote for trustees on a subdistrict basis instead of voting on an atlarge basis. See Thursday's Press-Record for details.

Trailer permit rejected

A permit graited by the Pontoon Beach Zoning Board of Appeals for a developer to place 125 mobile homes was rejected by the Pontoon Beach Village Board last week. Residents of the area where the trailers were to be placed gammed the Village Hall as board members, some saying the ZBA vote was illegal, told the ZBA to reconsider the controversial permit. The permit would have allowed 125 more mobile homes on Marigold Drive.

Cable contract in trouble

The Granite City Council on Tuesday decided to begin a hearing process not to renew a franchise agreement with Cencom Cable Associates Inc. The process must begin bet-ween 30 and 36 months before expiration of the franchise. City officials said they don't know when the franchise expires.

A proposition to dissolve the Granite City Park District was narrowly defeated on Tuesday. A taxpayers' group put the proposition on the ballot because the park board had issued public bonds without seeking voter approval. The balloting produced charges that Park District workers were actively being used in defeating the measure.

Obtaining the image is a simple procedure. At Anderson Hospital, a specially trained female rail. The procedure takes only an hour, "said Hatcher. "The fee for this examination is $55."

The X-ray exposure from mammogram is very small. In fact, the risk of adverse effects may be zero. The World Health of Breast Imaging Technologies in Breast Cancer Control has stated that the risk of screening mammography for women age 40 and older is negligible. ### Balloon technique expands heart valves

People with damaged heart valves who are not, candidates for open-heart surgery have a new option for treatment. Using larger versions to be used for years to open-up clogged blood, vessels, cardiologists can now expand narrowed valves, said Ronald Krone, M.D., head of the cardiac cathering the control of the cardiac cathering the cathering with the cardiac cathering the cathering with the cardiac cathering the cathering with the cardiac cathering with the cathering wi

In the first six cases performed at Jewish Hospital, the youngest patient was over the age of 70, four were in their 80s, and one was 92-years-old. All had refused surgery to correct their valve problems, or were determined to be at very high risk for valve surgery. Following the procedure, the majority showed improvement.

The technique involves threading a catheter through a major blood vessel into the narrowed heart valve. Around the catheter is a balloon — 6 to 7 inches long — which is expanded to stretch he flaps of the valve to allow a better blood flow. The valve condition correctable by this procedure of the valve of the valve opening which is caused by diseases, such as rheumatic fever, or by accumulation of calcium deposits, a consequence of aging.
